Press

Read press coverage about the Bipartisan Index. Click here to return to the Bipartisan Index homepage.

● Bipartisan Index Press Release (April 26, 2016)
● Senator Lugar discusses the Bipartisan Index on Sirius XM’s POTUS "Midway Briefing" program (Tim Farley, Sirius XM’s POTUS Politics)
● Senate Republicans Became More Bipartisan in the Last Congress - Democrats, Not So Much (Sean McMinn, Roll Call)
● Collins again ranked most bipartisan U.S. senator (Michael Shepherd, Bangor Daily News)
● Collins and King: Divides in Washington Reflect Divisions in America (Kailani Koenig, NBC News)
● Maine’s senators diagnose America’s political divide on ‘Meet the Press’ (Beth Quimby, Portland Press Herald)
● Bipartisan Index rates Wisconsin’s Congress members (WSAU)
● Texas senators rarely cross party lines, but Rep. Henry Cuellar is proud of bipartisan rating (Rhonda Fanning, The Texas Standard)
● Red-State Dems May Reach Across Aisle Ahead of 2018 (Ford Carson, Real Clear Politics)
● Partisan politics in the age of Trump? These N.J. Republicans work with Democrats (Jonathan Salant, NJ.com)
● Massachusetts Weak in Congress Bipartisan Ranking (Jon Keller, CBS Boston)

114th Congress First Session (2015) Bipartisan Index Scores (March 7, 2016)

● Bipartisan Index Press Release (March 7, 2016)
● Introductory op-ed: "Bipartisanship in Congress: Some progress, still a long way to go" (Former U.S. Senator Richard G. Lugar and Georgetown University McCourt School of Public Policy Dean Edward Montgomery, The Hill)

● "Meet the 5 most bipartisan politicians in Congress" (Story Hinckley, The Christian Science Monitor)

● "When even failure on gun control feels like a small victory" (Francine Kiefer, The Christian Science Monitor)

● "Terrorism a bipartisan concern" (Liam Marlaire, Eau Claire Leader-Telegram)

● "Low scores for cooperation to Wisconsin's congressional delegation" (Editorial, Wisconsin State Journal)

● "Lugar, Hamilton will discuss civility in American politics at USI" (Tim Ethridge, Evansville Courier & Press)

● "Bridging the Gap" (The Fort Wayne Journal Gazette)

● "Fighting for the lost art of bipartisanship" (Matt Tully, The Indianapolis Star)

● "Senator Lugar discusses the Bipartisan Index" (Tim Farley, Sirius XM's POTUS Politics)

● "Do Partisan Senators Make Better Presidential Candidates" (Nora Kelly, The Atlantic)

● "Study Finds Sanders, Cruz to Be Senate’s Most Partisan Members" (Rob Garver, The Fiscal Times)

● "And the most partisan senator of 2015 is..." (Amber Phillips, The Washington Post)

● "Sanders, Cruz top list of most partisan senators" (Nick Gass, Politico)

● "Two Presidential Hopefuls Rank as Least Bipartisan Senators" (Alex Gangitano, Roll Call)

Lifetime Bipartisan Index Senate Scores (December 15, 2015):

● Bipartisan Index Press Release (December 15, 2015)

● Introductory op-ed: "Real conservatives and real progressives can get things done" (Former U.S. Senator Richard G. Lugar and Georgetown University McCourt School of Public Policy Dean Edward Montgomery, The Hill)

● Senator Lugar's ranking on the Bipartisan Index (Maureen Groppe, The Indianapolis Star)

● "Bipartisan Ranking of Senators" (C-SPAN Washington Journal)

● "How do we know how Congress is doing?" (The William and Flora Hewlett Foundation)

● "Senator Lugar discusses the Bipartisan Index" (Tim Farley, Sirius XM's POTUS Politics)
Bipartisan Index Launch (May 19, 2015)

- Bipartisan Index Press Release (May 19, 2015)

- Introductory op-ed: "Reviving the Lost Art of Bipartisanship" (Former U.S. Senator Richard G. Lugar and Georgetown University McCourt School of Public Policy Dean Edward Montgomery, Roll Call)

- "'Bipartisan' shouldn't be a dirty word for members of Congress" (David Haynes, Milwaukee Journal-Sentinel)

- "Mirror, mirror on the wall, who's the most bipartisan of them all?" (Steve Kraske, The Kansas City Star)

- "Why Can't Congress Just Get Along?" (Tom Ashbrook, NPR News)

- "Capitol cooperation" (Tim Harmon, The Journal Gazette)

- "How Bipartisan Are Our Politicians?" (Marlon Wallace, WBOC16)

- "Lugar's List" (Steven R. Peck, The Ranger)

- "Being bipartisan in Congress doesn't mean trading values" (Mark Schoeff Jr., Howey Politics Indiana)

- "Bipartisanship in Congress" (C-SPAN Washington Journal)

- "Senator Lugar discusses the Bipartisan Index" (Tim Farley, Sirius XM's POTUS Politics)

- "New rankings grade members of Congress on bipartisanship" (Luke Russert, MSNBC)

- "Ranking the Senate's Would-Be Presidents by Partisanship" (Ben Brody, Bloomberg Politics)

- "Bipartisanship studied in the age of gridlock" (Lynn Sweet, The Chicago Sun-Times)

- "Lugar Center Index Ranks Lawmakers on Bipartisanship" (Andrew Desiderio, Real Clear Politics)

- "Lugar Center Study reveals a very partisan Indiana delegation" (Mark Schoeff Jr., Howey Politics Indiana)

- "New analysis shows an increasingly partisan Congress" (Maureen Groppe, USA Today)

- "Congress growing more partisan, index shows" (Maureen Groppe, The Indianapolis Star)